Type of contract: Full time, fixed term (2 years)

This post, based in the University Centre for Medical Education at Little France and at local teaching hospitals, offers exciting opportunities for trainee clinicians to develop skills in educational research, curriculum development, teaching and staff training. The post will be linked to Fife Health Board; the successful post-holder will spend approximately 3 or 4 days per week in Fife, and undertake a project focussed on undergraduate education there.

The Clinical Fellow post will support undergraduate medical education across a range of activities. Duties will include researching and developing the clinical curriculum and teaching. The Fellow will be encouraged to submit a research project for a higher degree in medical education.

The post is open to those who have completed core training or equivalent but who are not proceeding to specialty training this year; those who have a training number, at least one year of specialty training and are eligible for out-of-programme experience; and those who are completing their training but not yet taking up a consultant post. All potential applicants must discuss with their training programme director before applying. It is expected that you will undertake a session of clinical practice each week in Fife. A strong interest in medical education and experience of teaching in a health-care setting are essential.
